Primary Care - Useful Resources

Patient-friendly information on Coronavirus for healthcare

Accessible, high-quality information on COVID-19 is available in one place to make it easy for health and care workers, particularly GPs, practice staff and social prescribers to find trusted information they can use with patients, families, carers and service users, quickly and easily.

Selected by HEE's national NHS Knowledge and Library Services team, the Knowledge and Library Services Coronavirus Resources page [24] provides a gateway to the best available resources, gathered from a range of relevant health and third sector providers.

Updated regularly, the tailored content includes materials aimed at specific groups such as children and young people, older people and carers and for people with cancer or long-term conditions as well as providing resources in different accessible formats. Most recently sections have been added on long-COVID and vaccination.

BMJ Best Practice ? an award-winning resource now free to all NHS staff

BMJ Best Practice is a clinical decision-making resource providing the latest evidence-based information to use at the point of care. Funded by Health Education England, it is free to NHS professionals and students in England.

Rated as one of the best support tools worldwide, it includes guidance on diagnosis, prognosis, treatment and prevention, 'how to?' videos, patient information and more. Updated daily it provides information, anywhere, any time of day or night on or off-line.

Go to the BMJ Best Practice page [25] and register via NHS OpenAthens (instructions here [26]). Once registered you can download the app.
