There have been 1,003,891 session launches on the HEE e-LfH COVID-19 programme since it went live on 18 March 2020. The dedicated Coronavirus e-learning programme has been developed by Health Education England e-Learning for Healthcare with the support of clinical advisers from across the UK. The resource is for those working in and returning to healthcare, including allied health professionals, doctors, nurses, pharmacy staff, radiographers and care workers.

Patrick Mitchell, Director of Innovation and Transformation at Health Education England,

?It is fantastic news to see so many people accessing this programme. There is a real need across the country and globally to access these online educational training resources to help support both health and care workforces respond to Coronavirus.?

Professor Mark Radford, Chief Nurse, Health Education England, said:

?This remarkable resource is being used up and down the country as well as internationally, providing exceptional e-learning resources to support the delivery of care to COVID-19 patients.?
