The CapitalNurse Learning Disability Nursing Workforce Project was set up to address some of the real challenges faced in learning disability nursing.

In collaboration with its stakeholders CapitalNurse has produced a best practice guide that provides a pan-London resource to support health and social care organisations, addressing three key areas:

- Inspiring future learning disability nurses
- Recruiting and supporting newly-registered nurses
- Facilitating progression of registered learning disability nurses.

The guide builds on some of the existing CapitalNurse pan-London approaches such as the Preceptorship Framework [7], Newly Qualified Nurse Employment Offer [8] and Nursing Work Experience [8]. It is not intended to replace any existing good practice in recruiting and supporting learning disability nurses, and can be applied and adapted to meet an organisation's needs.
