Preceptor in Primary Care

“With the support of the Practice, I have preceptored a nurse new to General Practice during the GPN course and throughout her practice placement.

“She has remained with Herne Hill Group Practice for the last three years and is now co-preceptor for a newly qualified nurse who has joined the practice and will be attending the GPN course in January 2018. This nurse spent her final student placement with us.

“Preceptorship has enriched the practice ethos in that all staff feel a responsibility to take care of and develop this new, enthusiastic nurse. I believe my colleagues have improved their practice and have also learned from the preceptee.
