The Local Partnership Pledge:
An ACTION PLAN and implementation tool for local employers and trade unions
March 2015

TALENT FOR CARE - THE LOCAL PARTNERSHIP PLEDGE

Talent for Care – a strategic framework for the development of the healthcare support workforce, has been developed by the Health Education England, supported by the national Social Partnership Forum, and launched on the 4th March 2015.

Central to the philosophy of Talent for Care is partnership working at all levels. By working together, we can ensure that the healthcare support workforce receives the investment and development it needs, be highly skilled and flexible able to meet the future healthcare challenges.

The strategic framework states, ‘Employers are the most important participants in making this national framework happen. We are inviting them to make a “partnership pledge” with actions to show their commitment to delivering real changes based on the strategic intentions, case studies and programmes in this national framework’ (Page 26 Talent for Care).

This document is written to assist local employers and their partners develop actions and measures of success that will deliver this improved investment and development of their healthcare support workforce. Good employers will already be doing much of this. The suggested actions are distilled from Talent for Care and are an exemplar all the actions that employers might adopt. They are closely aligned to the Widening Participation programme. The actions are not prescriptive. Employers will wish to develop their own commitments to healthcare staff that best fit local priorities.

Suggested local Partnership Pledge

We have also developed some wording for a local partnership pledge that organisations may wish to use or adapt to meet their own needs. It is recommended that employers agree the pledge with their local staff side and publish it to staff.

‘The (name of organisation) values its healthcare support staff who are critical in ensuring the high quality care of patients and delivery of services. We are committed to recruiting and developing our support workforce giving them new skills and competencies that will equip them for the future and provide real opportunities for those who wish to progress. We support the national strategic framework Talent for Care and will work in partnership to deliver its key strategic intentions.’
