

HEE Population Health and Prevention Programme Innovation Fund Celebration Event

Health Education England

The Studio, Birmingham
10am – 4pm, 14 May 2019

HEE Population Health and Prevention (PHP) programme works to improve health of the population through promoting wellbeing; preventing ill-health and major health conditions and reducing health inequalities.

This is achieved through training and educating the workforce to have the competencies and leadership skills to deliver population health and prevention, ensuring the health of the public is everyone's business.

As part of the PHP Innovation Fund (2018-19), Health Education England is delighted to invite you to a celebration event 14 May 2019 10am – 4pm at The Studio, Birmingham.

15 projects working across a range of settings, received funding to deliver projects on behaviour change, public mental health and public health workforce development.

Many projects created initiatives that are transferable and scalable. During the event we will explore how we can build on this valuable work for Population Health and Prevention moving forward.

The day will be filled with presentations, workshops and posters of the funded projects as well as presentations from speakers in Population Health and Prevention including:

- Professor Jane South, Professor of Healthy Communities at the Institute for Health & Wellbeing at Leeds Beckett University and national adviser on Healthy Communities for Public Health England
- Dr Jonathan Campion FRCPsych, Consultant Psychiatrist & Director for Public Mental Health at South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust
- Chris Sharp, Workforce Development Manager at Public Health England.

There will be an opportunity for attendees to discuss the initiatives and learning produced, sharing of experience and networking.

The event aimed at people responsible for workforce development, commissioning of education and training and organisational development leads. This includes those working across HEE, PHE, local authority, NHS England, NHS Improvement and providers of NHS commissioned services.
